

Sunday, October 12, 2025

Spec for TAG Diary Website

I want the website to have a section(s) for

- Written text, interspersed with photos. (I recognize that I might have to do so in MSWord or some other external software, and upload the document to the website.)
- Verbal text, so my voice will be there for someone to listen to. (Can one dictate directly into the computer and have it automatically uploaded?)
- A photo gallery that replicates as much as possible what Apple Photos or Google photos does- chronological order, albums, people, etc. (I would prefer the metadata related to each photo to be hidden from view.(See below)
- Odds and ends with files I could upload of random information that might one day be interesting for my kids and grandkids
- A separate branch of all the above in case your grandmother wants to do some of what I plan to do!

I anticipate dictating or writing what I will call ‘vignettes’, and uploading them whenever I have finished. For example, if I write about my early life in London Ontario, or my early married years in London, England, I would upload it whenever I have written or dictated those vignettes.

